Support Services to Seniors - Patient Flow

Patient flow is a term used to describe how people move through various components of the health-care system, regardless of where they entered it

Support Services to Seniors supports Primary Prevention by:

- Promoting health and wellness;
- Preventing and/or postponing illness and disability;
- Preventing and/or postponing the need for acute and urgent services;
- Preventing and/or postponing use of emergency rooms;
- Having social support networks may be as important as established risk factors such as smoking, physical activity, obesity and high blood pressure;
- Addressing the health determinants (e.g. gender, income & social status, culture, social support network, personal health practices & coping skills); and
- Supporting discharge planning back to the community.

Support Services to Seniors include:

- Seniors Resource Finders (SRF) link and refer seniors to community support, programs and services in their community area.
- Tenant Resource Coordinators (TRC) develop and coordinate a service plan for the tenants in 55+ buildings. The services delivered include information and referral, advocacy, grocery shopping options, friendly visiting, health clinics, errands options, etc.
